

Terms & Conditions

General Terms

1. All invoices are issued in Indian Rupees (INR) unless otherwise specified in writing.
2. The client agrees to review all project deliverables and provide approvals or feedback within the mutually agreed timeline.
3. Any additional work requested outside the approved project scope shall be treated as a separate requirement and may incur additional charges.
4. The company reserves the right to revise project timelines in case of delays caused by incomplete information, delayed approvals, or third-party dependencies.
5. All intellectual property, source code, design assets, documents, and deliverables shall remain the property of the company until full payment is received.
6. The client shall ensure that all content, logos, trademarks, and materials provided to the company do not violate any copyright or legal regulations.
7. The company shall maintain reasonable confidentiality regarding all client information and project-related data.
8. Any communication or approval shared through email or official communication channels shall be considered valid authorization.
9. The company shall not be responsible for delays caused by internet outages, hosting provider issues, government restrictions, force majeure events, or third-party platform failures.
10. The client agrees not to reproduce, redistribute, resell, or modify the delivered solution without prior written permission where licensing restrictions apply.

Payment Terms

11. Payment shall be made through approved payment methods such as bank transfer, UPI, cheque, or any mutually agreed payment channel.
12. Invoices must be paid within the due date mentioned in the invoice document.
13. Late payments may attract additional charges or temporary suspension of services/support.
14. Any taxes applicable under government regulations, including GST, shall be borne by the client.
15. Advance payments, once processed, are non-refundable unless otherwise agreed in writing.
16. The company reserves the right to withhold final delivery, deployment credentials, or production access until outstanding dues are cleared.
17. Partial payments do not transfer ownership rights of unfinished or unpaid deliverables.
18. Bank transaction charges, foreign exchange charges, or intermediary processing fees shall be borne by the client where applicable.
19. Any dispute related to billing must be raised within seven working days from the invoice date.

20. Failure to complete payment obligations may result in project suspension or termination.

Service & Support Terms

21. Support and maintenance services shall only cover the scope explicitly agreed upon in the contract or quotation.
22. Free support, if provided, shall be limited to the agreed support duration from the project delivery date.
23. The company is not responsible for issues caused by unauthorized modifications performed by third parties or client-side developers.
24. Hosting, domain registration, SSL certificates, cloud services, APIs, and third-party subscriptions may require separate renewal charges.
25. Data backup responsibility shall remain with the client unless backup services are specifically included in the agreement.
26. The company shall not be liable for data loss, revenue loss, indirect damages, or business interruption arising from system failures or cyber incidents.
27. Third-party integrations depend on the availability and policies of external service providers and may change without prior notice.
28. Any feature enhancement or customization requested after project approval shall follow a separate estimation and approval process.
29. The company may use generic project references for portfolio or demonstration purposes unless restricted by a signed NDA.
30. The client shall provide timely access, credentials, approvals, and technical information required for project completion.

Legal & Compliance

31. All disputes shall be subject to the jurisdiction of Chennai, Tamil Nadu, India.
32. Both parties agree to comply with applicable laws, regulations, and data protection requirements.
33. If any provision of these terms becomes invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall continue to remain valid.
34. These terms and conditions constitute the complete understanding between both parties regarding the services provided.
35. No waiver of any breach shall be considered a waiver of any future breach.
36. The company reserves the right to update service policies and operational procedures when necessary.
37. The client agrees that digital copies, scanned signatures, and electronically shared approvals shall be considered legally valid.
38. Any misuse of the delivered software, unauthorized access attempts, or illegal activities performed using the system shall be solely the responsibility of the client.
39. Cancellation of ongoing projects may involve applicable charges for completed work, resources utilized, and committed timelines.

40. Continued usage of the delivered services or products shall indicate acceptance of these terms and conditions.
